IX.

The following provisions are adopted for the regulations of the business and affairs of the corporation, subject to amendments, extension, repeal, or addition by the stockholders by the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, or either, to-wit:

1. The corporation shall be managed by the Board of Directors who shall be elected for the term of one year by the stockholders at their annual meeting. At their first meeting of the term for which they are elected, the Directors shall elect from one of their members a Chairman of the Board of Directors who shall serve for such term and who shall appoint a Secretary of said Board from the membership of said Board, and such Secretary shall serve at the pleasure of the Chairman of the Board, the Chairman shall supervise the affairs of the Board of Directors and preside over its meetings.

The Board of Directors shall hold an annual meeting at the offices of the corporation within sixty days after the close of the corporation's fisical year and shall hold such other meetings, from time to time, as the President of the corporation, the Chairman of the Board, or a majority of the Directors shall see it to call. Not less than five days prior to any annual or special meeting of the Board of Directors, the Secretary of the corporation shall mail a notice of such meeting to each director at his last known address, and such notice shall state the date, time, and place of such meeting and the purpose for which it is called, provided that notice of any meeting may be waived by a director by his giving his written consent to the holding of such meeting. A majority of the directors shall constitute a quorum of the Board of Directors.

The President, and the Secretary of the corporation shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at its annual meeting serving until their successors are elected and qualified, provided that any of said offices may be removed from his office at any time by resolution of the Board of Directors. Such officers shall receive such remuneration for their services as the Board of Directors may, from time to time, fix. The Board of Directors shall appoint and fix the salaries of such other officers, agents, servants or employees of the corporation as they deem necessary to carry on the functions of the corporation, whose employment shall be the pleasure of the Board of Directors.

No remuneration is to be paid to a director for his services as such director.

2. Annual meetings of the stockholders of the corporation shall be held at the offices of the corporation within sixty days after the close of the corporation's fiscal year, and special meetings of the stockholders may be called at any time for the President of the corporation or by a resolution of the Board of Directors, or by the person or persons holding the larger amount in value of the common stock. Not less than twenty days prior to any annual or special meeting of the stockholders, the Secretary of the corporation shall mail a notice of such meeting to each stockholder at his last known address, and such notice shall state the date, time, and place of such meeting and the purpose for which it is called and the business to be transacted there at, provided that notice of any meeting may be waived by any stockholder by his giving his written consent to the holding of such meeting. Each stockholder shall have one vote for each share of common stock owned by him, and a quorum of the stockholders for the transaction of business at a stockholder's meeting shall consist of representation in person or by proxy of a majority of the outstanding common stock of the corporation, and at any stockholder's meeting, a majority vote of the common stock represented at such meeting shall be sufficient to transact any business, except as otherwise provided by law.

3. The officers of the corporation shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Treasurer, and a Secretary. More than one office of the Corporation may be held by the same person at the same time, and a person may hold office or offices in the corporation at the same time be a director of said corporation.

4. Any action required or proposed to be taken by the directors or the stockholders, or both, may be effected without notice or formal meeting by embodying same in a resolution or instrument in writing signed by all of the directors or stockholders, as the case may be, and such action shall be as fully and completely valid, binding, and effective as of the date expressed therein, or, if no date be therein expressed, then, as of the time on which the same shall be filed by the secretary or entered in the minutes of the corporation, whichever comes first.

5. The President, without having authorization by the Board of Directors, shall have power, for and in the name of the Corporation, to sign checks for the withdrawal of funds from any bank; to execute and endorse promissory notes; to execute deeds and leases; to execute, endorse and assign instruments and mortgages as evidence of and security for loans made to the corporation; and to preform any other transaction in the name and on behalf of the corporation.

6. In the event additional stock is issued by the corporation, each stockholder shall be first offered and entitled to the privilege of taking such additional stock so issued, in the same proportion as his holding of common stock, or such less amount, if any as he may desire, within 30 days of such offer, before the additional stock so issued is offered for sale to the public.

7. No stockholder may sell, transfer, pledge, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of his legal or equitable interest in all or part of his shares of stock in the corporation, without first offering to sell such part of all of said stock to the other stockholders of the corporation, in proportion to the number of shares which they own at such time, at and for the same price and on and under the same terms and conditions as such stockholder desiring to sell his shares of stock may have bona fide offer from a would-be purchaser or purchasers of said stock; and if one or more of said stockholders decline to purchase said stock, then such of said stockholders as do desire to purchase said stock may exercise the afore-described option and purchase same in accordance with their proportionate ownership of stock in the corporation at such time; and the stockholders purchasing said stock under the afore-described option may purchase same without regard to their proportionate ownership of stock in the corporation by mutual agreement among such purchasing stockholders. In the event that a stockholder offers to sell his stock to the other stockholders, or part of them, under the foregoing provisions, such stockholder desiring to sell his stock must offer satisfactory and reasonable evidence of the bona fide price and terms of sale which he has been offered by such would-be purchaser or purchasers of said stock, and the other stockholders, or some of them, as the case may be, shall have ten days in which to exercise their option hereunder from the date written notice is given by a stockholder of his intention to sell his stock and the terms and conditions on which said sale is proposed to be made; and if, at the expiration of said ten-day period, the other stockholders, or part of them, as the case may be, have not exercised their options under the provisions hereof, such stockholder desiring to sell his stock shall be free to sell same to any person, firm, or corporation; provided that any offer by a selling stockholder to sell his stock to the other stockholders, or part of them, as the case may be, must be bona fide and in good faith and must be consummated by such selling stockholder if accepted; provided further, that the
